WHY HUMAN OBSERVATIONS MATTER

TESTIMONIALS ARE SIGNALS FOR INVESTIGATION, NOT PROOF OF CAUSATION.

Every transformation begins with a signal. The personal experiences shared in this document represent real people noticing meaningful changes after exposure to EX10D technology in Halo environments. These observations are valuable because they highlight patterns worth further exploration.

THE ROLE OF TESTIMONIALS

THEY ARE REAL

Authentic experiences shared by individuals in real environments. They reflect what people actually notice and feel.

THEY ARE EARLY INDICATORS

They may reveal patterns, trends and improvements that deserve scientific measurement and validation.

THEY BUILD THE BRIDGE

Testimonials connect personal experience to structured observation, measurement and independent research.

THEY GUIDE INVESTIGATION

They help identify where, how and why environmental effects should be measured, tested and replicated.

THEY SUPPORT CONFIDENCE

When combined with science, they strengthen confidence in the technology, the environment and the experience.

TESTIMONIALS ARE NOT CONCLUSIONS. THEY ARE STARTING POINTS.

They do not prove cause, effect or medical outcome. They identify real-world experiences that warrant investigation.

- ✓ They are observations.
- ✓ They are personal.
- ✓ They are subjective.
- ✓ They are not scientific proof.

FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE TO UNDERSTANDING

PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

An individual has a personal experience while using EX10D.

OBSERVATION

They notice a change or improvement in their condition or environment.

DOCUMENTATION

The experience is shared voluntarily with appropriate consent for review.

INVESTIGATION

Patterns are identified and measured using instruments and A-B-A testing.

I couldn't be more grateful.

I can't thank you and Charlie enough for how much you've helped improve my quality of life so that I can enjoy the days with Lincoln without so much pain. I'm truly blessed to have met you.

It has been amazing. I have no pain at all in my left leg and the huge varicose vein I had is almost non-existent now. The doctor was gobsmacked to say the least. He looked back on the previous scan I had on it and ordered a new scan because he couldn't believe how much it had shrunk.

I caught influenza A from Lincoln, and the doctor was nervous with me being asplenic, but it was just a sniffle it never progressed any further. I couldn't be more grateful. Without it the doctors would have me on copious amounts of medications. The surgeon said within the first 5 years of having surgery that I would constantly be back and forth from the hospital. I have been once in the last year.

It certainly made a big difference going from the plate at night, to wearing it continually.

My dad took his off the other week and was surprised how quickly the pain in his back flared up. Needless to say he won't be taking it off again.

From zero kidney function to full recovery in just three days.

Hi Charlie,

With respect to my own health, normally all good I have not been near a Doctor for nearly 50 years, as no issues have occurred.

Then, 18 months ago, I copped a very severe dose of food poisoning (category 7, and cyclones only go up to cat 5).

First 2 days vomiting, then 3 days of severe diarrhoea, dehydration, etc still could not cope with water intake as it would come back up.

Then started to settle down and slept for 36 hours straight. When I woke up, I could not urinate and ended up in an ambulance, then in hospital with kidneys that were very swollen and had zero function.

When a catheter was inserted, the Doctors collected 3.5 litres of urine; I was informed by the Urology team that I was heading for Dialysis for the rest of my life.

I then used the large emitter and mirror as directed. I then slept for 4/5 hours, and my kidney function was back up to 18% and the next morning 45%.

Then, on the 3rd day after admission, they had fully recovered, which left the Urology Team very surprised.

The elderly nurse who was on duty at night told me that they were all talking about the amazing recovery that I had been through.

It was not to be moved away from me.

Hi this is from Tara.

Doctors and nurses seem very skeptical. But after surgery I was in a bad state as I had my spline removed and other complications.

By day 6 they finally agreed to let me get the plate out of my hospital bag as I couldn't get up.

The day after they put it under my pillow I was almost back to normal.

All my stats went back to normal and I was off pain relief.

Even the surgeon was stumped but agreed that it worked so it was not to be moved away from me.

Thank you

The staff could not believe the recovery I had.

Dear Charles I had a major operation mid last year, I am allergic to morphine so was very worried about the operation.

It lasted 3 hours and took a while to come out of recovery.

Now the strangest part was there was no requirement for pain relief.

The staff could not believe the recovery I had and was sent home the next day.

I had to do a lot of rehab and was told it would take at least 6 months to be back to normal.

Everyone was surprised when I was back at work 2 weeks later.

Rehab agreed it was not required also.

My pain was manageable and I healed very quickly. I slept really soundly.

From Dianne T Gold Coast Australia.

Having spent a great deal of my life researching about health and wellness, I have found and been introduced to a myriad of health devices, so when I found about the EX10D plate, I was a tad sceptical, even though I had some knowledge of Nano technology.

Like every person who is over 60 years of age, actually much closer to 70 in my case, I have the earlier sports injuries rapidly catching up with me, so I thought 'what have I got to lose, apart from the pain in my back and knees.

I also had been getting a nagging pain in the left side of my chest which was being, so I started placing the plate either under my pillow at night, or when I had the chest pain, directly onto the operating theatre but the staff were wonderful and when I woke up in ICU, they had placed the plate underneath my pillow as I had asked them to do.

Not long after getting the plate, I collapsed at home and was rushed to hospital where the investigations revealed that I had a congenital irregularity with my Aortic Valve and my heart had only worked at about 30% capacity all my life and it had now become life threatening.

My Aortic Valve was replaced whilst having open heart surgery. To say I was incredibly nervous, would be an understatement but by now I had read as much about my plate as possible and had a lot more faith in its abilities. Everywhere I went, so did the plate. I was not allowed to take into the operating theatre but the staff were wonderful and when I woke up in ICU, they had placed the plate underneath my pillow as I had asked them to do.

As you can imagine, this is a very large surgery but they got me up out of bed the following morning after the op and to my surprise, it was uncomfortable but manageable. The staff were all very impressed at how well I was doing. My oxygen levels were spot on, as was my blood pressure and all other vitals. I knew I'd had the surgery but my pain was quite dull by comparison to many others in the cardiac ward.

Very strong pain medication had been chartered for me when I got to the ward, but I did not really need much. The nurses kept coming in and offering me the medication every 4 hours and a couple of times, I had 2 panadol. I was up walking, showering and recovering very quickly. Everyone commented on how well I was doing and as you know the walls in hospitals are pretty thin, so I could hear many other patients in way more pain than I was and they were taking lots of medication.

Throughout my whole hospital stay, I had no more than 6 Endone and about 6 panadol, if that, for pain relief, which for Open Heart surgery is a rarity. Most of the patients would have had that amount in one day. Not only was my pain manageable but I also slept really soundly and healed very quickly.

This unique, cordless, battery-less nano device has been a game changer for me with my recovery and overall health.

On day 4 after surgery, there was a class about nutrition, self care etc and all the patients who attended were still on walkers, uncomfortable and in lots of pain, apart from me. The only thing that was different between myself and them was that I had the EX10D plate, so I am absolutely convinced that it made all the difference.

Within 2 weeks of returning home, I amazed myself with my progress and I found it really hard to follow the instructions from the doctor as all I wanted to do was some gardening, clean the house and many more energetic things that I wasn't allowed to do.

Wherever I go, my plate goes. Some people cannot leave the house without their phone well I can't leave the house without my plate.

I keep it on my lap when I am working on the laptop or watching TV as it also eliminates EMF's.

This unique, cordless, battery-less nano device has been a game changer for me with my recovery and overall health.

*Signs are good.
My faith in your belief is also a plus.*

This is from my classmate who we have a plate.

Hi Johnny Ruwan seems to have faith in the plate and is in his pocket most of the time. His attitude and mental wellbeing has improved quite a lot.

The ankle swellings which is his main concern and reason for walking unaided has not gone down but seems to have a slight effect in walking more comfortably. Let's wait and see. Considering his long term illness not expecting miracles. He has spoken about this to the Malli and now Malli is eagerly waiting.

Signs are good. My faith in your belief is also a plus.

Hope the family is OK..... don't need to ask about you as I believe a Vodka a day also helps 😊

Thank and God Bless Part 2

UPDATE : Almost 6 weeks since the plate was given to Ruwan and there is a significant change. Still uses the walker BUT steps are more sprightly and distance he can walk pain free is much more. In fact the pain level has decreased quite a lot. Swelling although still there, has gone down quite a bit.

Mentally he has accepted that the plate is helping him and does not want to talk about it.... in fact when the Malli (Ravin) asked for it for a week he flatly refused.

Can't thank you enough for this.

As a precaution against falling I have advised him to keep using the walker although he wants to walk unaided. We can't afford to take a chance with the condition of his bones. Hope everything OK with you and your family.

Thought you'd like to know Cheers Mark.

Cherie's mum rushed to hospital with brain tumor, stroke and stomach ulcers.

Cannot yet operate on tumor as she was too weak and v low anticipated success rate. Mum was very comatosed.

I told Cherie to put plate under her hospital bed pillow.

Mum came out of comatose position very quickly and felt much better, stunning the nurses.

What was equally amazing was that right beside her was a 20 yr old male that was in a coma for 30 days after a car accident. He came out of the coma about two hours after insertion of the plate and has quickly recovering, with a huge appetite.

Cherie's mum was to remain in hospital for at least a week to 2 weeks. She was released on day 3!

Even better, she now can use her left hand a little and walk on her left leg, which wasn't possible before her stroke.

While here at home one night she fell and broke a bone in the hip. Turns out some medication she was taking for 20 years removed Co10 from her body which in turn prevented Ca absorption so her bones are more brittle than they should be. The bone likely broke causing her to fall.

She has pin inserted into hip and was again released on 3rd day in hospital to the amazement of the nurses. She is walked from the car to the house and walks daily despite the operation less than a week ago!

The plate is kept under her pillow so accelerated healing continues
Cherie also puts her on the Metatron.

Good morning Charles,

Yet another great nights sleep. I went to bed at 11.30pm and woke up at 6.30am. No waking up at all in between. Thank you Jesus and the divine and you for sharing it. Since I have had a great nights sleep I feel there is more energy and did not struggle to wake up this morning.
